

JAL & Korean Air Expand Code Share Partnership by 40%

Tokyo, Tuesday September 19, 2006: Japan Airlines (JAL) and Korean Air (KAL) have agreed to expand their code share agreement from October 29, 2006 by adding extra flights to existing code share routes and by starting new twice-daily code share flights on the Tokyo-Busan and Osaka (Kansai)-Busan routes.

Overall, from late October the JAL - Korean Air code share program between the two countries will increase by 40% from the present 133 flights per week over 9 routes to 186 flights a week over 11 routes.

Under the expanded agreement the number of daily code share flights between Tokyo (Narita), Osaka (Kansai) and Nagoya (Chubu) and Seoul (Incheon) increases to seven, five and three respectively. Frequency on the Fukuoka-Seoul route will increase from a daily service to 11 flights a week by the addition of four new weekly flights.

The Korean Air-JAL code share program started in August 2004, with flights between Seoul and the regional Japanese cities of Komatsu, Niigata and Sapporo.
